

Programming project

Ken Saburi

Jekaterina Oksanjuk

Description:

An app for professional and aspiring writers to organise and simplify their work. Application is planned to include the following functionality (subject to change during the development period):

- Text editor with enhanced functionality to keep track of writing goals, version control for editing, and references from other sections (see sections below)
- Character sheets
- Locations sheets
- Mind board (brainstorming, outlining, research)
- Chapter organiser
- Random word/quote/plotline generator for inspiration

This will be a unique application, as currently, existing competitors do not include the majority of proposed functionality that writers require during their writing process.